

Turner and Constable Exhibition

Thursday 5th February 2026

This is an unmissable opportunity to explore the careers of the two greatest British landscape painters seen, as they often were in their own time, side by side. Discover unexpected sides to both artists alongside intimate insights seen through sketchbooks and personal items. With the two painters vying for success through very different but equally bold approaches the scene was set for a heady rivalry. Turner painted blazing sunsets and scenes from his travels while Constable often returned to depictions of a handful of beloved places. Art critics compared their paintings to a clash of fire and water.
